

Gold Coast Oceanway

The Gold Coast Oceanway is a 36 kilometre network of shared cycle and pedestrian pathways along the coastline areas from the New South Wales border to the Gold Coast Seaway.

The Oceanway provides access to our beautiful beaches as well as offering sustainable travel options for residents and tourists along the city's iconic coastline.

Building the Oceanway

Since the early 2000s, the City has been progressively building the Oceanway to be a world class facility for residents and visitors. Guided by the Gold Coast Transport Strategy 2031, this project is part of an investment by the City to extend the network of shared cycle and pedestrian pathways to create a better connected Gold Coast.

Current projects

The Gold Coast Oceanway Map highlights existing and planned project stages of the Oceanway. Planning and design of future stages continue with the remaining Oceanway sections to be upgraded as funding becomes available and subject to Council approval. For detailed information on each specific project, visit the City's website.

Features and facilities

The Oceanway path varies from 3.5m to 5m wide to provide space for pedestrians and cyclists. Public facilities along the Oceanway include barbecues, seating, toilets, lighting, viewing platforms, showers and bike racks.

Shared path guidelines

The Oceanway is a public shared-use path for people of all abilities and levels of experience. For pedestrians, cyclists, and users of wheeled recreation devices (such as skateboards, foot scooters and similar) and personal mobility devices (such as e-scooters, e-skateboards and tricycles) the following applies:

- Keep left and give way to pedestrians.
- Travel at a safe distance and at a speed that allows you to stop safely to avoid colliding with other pathway users.
- Keep left of oncoming bicycles and other personal mobility devices.
- Pedestrians must not block the path.
- Dogs must be kept on a lead.

Active travel

The Gold Coast is a vibrant, fast growing city and as our population grows, so does our transport network. The City is working to ensure the Gold Coast has a strong transport network with a great range of travel options for locals and visitors. The Gold Coast Oceanway is an active travel initiative.

Active travel refers to more sustainable methods of travel including walking, cycling, carpooling and public transport. The benefits include reducing traffic congestion, improving air quality and the health of our community, saving money and supporting our active and healthy lifestyle.
